Forestry Youth Camp and Camp Discover!

Forestry Camp Students, Education Coordinator Anthony Pascall, and Camp Volunteers

Forestry Youth Camp 2022 was a wonderful success! Oklahoma Forestry Services Education Coordinator Anthony Pascall taught campers the basics of forestry management and wildfire prevention through career-based learning exercises, games, and interactive presentations. Special thanks go to fellow Forestry Services personnel, forestry educators, parent volunteers, and State Park employees for their involvement.

Brianna Teel hosted 14 children for the FHC's annual Camp Discover. Campers enjoyed interactive presentations, completed nature crafts, and made lasting memories. In addition, she was thrilled to have five outstanding student volunteers and a state forester as her helpers for the event. Tree Bear even made an appearance!

Tree Bear Visits the Library

I spoke to a dozen audience members and one squeaky guinea pig!

Tree Bear travelled to the Broken Bow library to share all the “good things” that come from trees. Along with museum interpreter Brianna, they presented many products derived from trees via a trunk handcrafted by the local woodturning association.

A Forester and His Masterpieces

Craig Marquardt proudly showcasing his art.

East Central Area Forester Craig Marquardt brought his watercolor art to the FHC for our June 1st Saturday. Every visitor who stopped by marveled at his talent and one young lady was so impressed he gifted her with a painting.

Also in attendance were local chainsaw artists Steve and Sandy Songer.

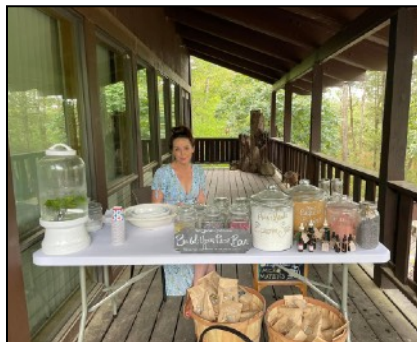

1st Saturday Fun Day!

For the August 1st Saturday, Brianna got together Beavers Bend State Park concessions, local businesses, the Museum of the Red River, and a living history demonstrator to celebrate summer break before children went back to school. There were sweet treats, a tasty food truck, animals to pet, trees to take home, and educational crafts!

Southeast Oklahoma Woodturners

Local woodturner Mike Love presented pieces created by his new laser engraver.

Local woodturner Chris Wood demonstrated at the August 1st Saturday event. He brought with him custom turned pens, handmade animal calls, and a variety of bowls.

Woodturning Carnival

The Southeast Oklahoma Woodturners hosted an event on September 3rd where they invited wood artisans to showcase their unique abilities and sell their creations. On display were segmented turnings and laminated rolling pins, along with charcuterie boards. In addition, a woodturner showed visitors how wooden beads are transformed into beautiful jewelry. Other demonstrations included chip carving, chainsaw carving, duck call turning, and pen making. As a special activity, free tops were available for little ones to decorate and take home.

Did you know?

In the 1800s, railroads accounted for 25% of the nation's wood consumption. Each mile of track needed 2,500 ties and they had to be replaced every 5 to 7 years.
